Regulation to ban the marketing of unhealthy food and beverages to children is a global childhood obesity prevention priority.

1 in 3 Caribbean children are obese or overweight. This is largely driven by the consumption of sugary beverages.

The food and beverage industry spends $2 billion marketing to children every year.

Foods and beverages marketed to children are often high in fats, salt and sugar.

HCC recommends a package of policies to tackle childhood obesity.

1 in 3 Caribbean children are overweight or obese. This is largely driven by the consumption of sugary beverages.

The food and beverage industry spends $2 billion marketing to children every year.

Foods and beverages marketed to children are often high in fats, salt and sugar.

HCC recommends a package of policies to tackle childhood obesity.